Paint Colors Adopted for “Minor Work”

Historic Preservation Commission
Auburn, Alabama

Incorporated in Design Review Standards August 11, 2009

While the Historic Preservation Commission (HPC) will consider any color proposed for the exterior of a home, the HPC has adopted a color palette that allows for an array of colors, which if used, are considered “minor work” rather than “major work”. The advantage of this palette is that the paint colors that are reviewed and approved by staff rather than going before the HPC. This expedited review option saves time for the property owner and saves procedural costs to the City of Auburn.

The HPC selected the Historical Color Collection: Interior/Exterior, Benjamin Moore & Co., M1121593, (May 2006) set of colors as the adopted color palette. Property owners may use other brands of paints in comparable colors to those on the palette. Multiple Colors may be selected within a single grouping; however, color selections from two or more color groupings are subject to HPC approval. A copy of the palette is located at the Planning Department Offices, 171 North Ross Street (334-501-3040), and includes the colors listed below. Additional information about the colors can be found on the manufacturer’s website, <http://www.benjaminmoore.com>.
